

Issam Mudawar has received the 2013 Heat Transfer Memorial Award in Science Category for “pioneering theoretical and experimental research on phase change mechanisms and applications in energy, materials processing, aerospace propulsion and thermal management, and electronics cooling.” The award was presented at the Heat Transfer Division (HTD) Awards Luncheon at the ASME 2013 International Mechanical Engineering Congress and Exposition (IMECE) in San Diego, CA, on November 19, 2013.